Council tours casino kitchens

THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

At the last General Meeting hosted by Tribal Council on Friday, April 29 tribal members voiced concerns about a number of things they think the tribe can be doing better. A few of those concerns had to do with the casino restaurants.

During a tour on Tuesday, May 10 Executive Chef Bill Barbone and General Manager Charley Flagg showed Tribal Council what the kitchens look like, the products used and the appliances used to prepare the food.

It's important to note that complaints - critiques - are very common in the restaurant business. Barbone and Flagg, said they hear feedback all the time and have taken steps to make things better.

For instance, wait times are often a top concern, said. especially amongst customers that have a limited

One new edition to the Rolling Thunder Grill is a machine that can cook up to seven- fresh-8oz burgers in 120 seconds. No more precooked burgers sitting in au jus, Barbone said. He hopes to buy the same machine for the Shining Mountain Grill.

Also, Barbone has heard concerns about wait staff not being on the floor to help customers. He said they have a new system that has been place for the last two-and-a-half weeks that the floor.

Cleanliness was not a complaint heard at the general meeting and it became apparent why it wasn't once Barbone explained the time and money spent on keeping the kitchens clean.

"There is a crew that comes in at 9 p.m. to steam clean all the kitchens, nightly," he said. "Twice a month we have the hoods (of the helps keep more servers on stoves) cleaned ... no one cleans as much as we do.'

VETERANS AFFAIRS

Tips for distance-eligible veterans

VETERANS SERVICES

There are several steps recommended that you take before requesting a doctor's services through the Veterans Choice Program:

Check on the VA website: www.va.gov/opa/apps/locator/ for doctors in your area that provide the services you are looking for. If a doctor you are already seeing or want to see isn't listed on the website, call that doctor's office to see if he/she participates in the Choice Program or is a PC3 provider. If not, would he/she be willing to sign up and participate?

Once you have a doctor selected, call that doctor's office and schedule an appointment to see the doctor (at least 2 to 3 weeks out). Let them know that a Choice representative will be calling them to set up an appointment and ask the doctor's office to give the Choice representative the appointment time and date you have already scheduled.

Things you should do when you are requesting a doctor's services through the Veterans Choice Program: When talking to the Choice representative, let them know you want to see a particular doctor and the date when you are available to see the doctor. Before you hang up, be sure to ask for the authorization number that is going to be assigned. Tell them that you know it is not yet authorized but that you want the number so that when you call back to check on the progress of getting the authorization completed, you have the authorization number and they can quick-

By Richard S. Schleeter couple of days to get a status LA PLATA COUNTY report as to where it stands in getting authorization and the appointment scheduled. You may have to provide them with information several times to get it completed.

> Things you should do once you have seen your doctor and additional services are needed:

If your doctor has to refer you to another doctor or if you need services that cannot be completed in his/her office, your doctor will have to ask for these additional services to be approved through the Veterans Choice Program administrator, Tri-West. The required form for requesting the additional services may be found on Tri-West website. Your doctor will then fax his/her request to Tri-West. Ask your doctor or his/her staff when the fax will go out. Call your doctor's office the day after you were told it would be faxed to see if it was. At that time, ask the person you are talking to for the fax number that was used to send the request. Then wait for 3 to 4 business days from the time it was sent to call Veterans Choice and ask if they have the request. If they can't find the fax, provide them with the fax phone number that the request was sent from so they can trace that fax in their system. Once the representative finds the fax, ask for the fax identification number so that it may be located more easily at a later date. You may have to do this procedure one or more times, including asking the doctor's office to send the fax again. Once Tri-West has the faxed request in hand, ask that it is processed right Monday - Friday, except ly find the file in the system. then to move forward for holidays, and appointments Things you should do authorization. Call the person in your doctor's office that handles the Veterans Choice Program and let them know the following:Once your doctor's office faxes the request for additional services to Tri-West, the doctor's office representative, after 3 or 4 business days have elapsed, can call the Veterans Choice Program telephone number (866-606-8198) and ask if their fax was received and if so, has the authorization process begun. If the Veterans Choice representative says he/she can't find the fax in the system, the doctor's office staff member should provide the Choice representative with the fax number from which the fax was sent and ask the representative to trace the fax in their system. Once it is located, the doctor's office representative should ask the Choice representative to start the authorization process and if possible put it through the expedited process. Once the Choice representative has completed the initial processing, the doctor's office representative should ask for the authorization number that the system generated so the doctor's office can use it in any future communications that may be necessary with the Veterans Choice Program.

Committee seeking future Southern Ute royalty

By Sacha Smith THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

The past few years the Southern Ute Royalty pageants have seen low contestant turnout. In hopes to turn that around, the Southern Ute Royalty Committee is hosting royalty workshops leading up to the pageant.

"The purpose [of the workshops] is to get young people interested," Twyla Blackbird, Royalty Committee chairwoman said.

The committee is offering these workshops to help educate young royalty hopefuls on what being Southern Ute royalty entails, Blackbird said.

The first workshop was held Tuesday, May 3 and served as a meet-and-greet for tribal member families and the committee.

Royalty Committee members - past royalty, one tribal elder and tribal member - took the opportunity to explain what being a member of Southern Ute royalty means to them and the responsibility that comes along with it.

"There is a Code of Ethics ... you have read them and adhere to them, it's not hard to do it's just conduct and something to really focus on," Leonora Burch, committee secretary and treasurer said.

Tribal elder on the board, Joycelyn Dutchie said that it is all about respect.

"How you represent yourself is how you get known out there ... it all has to do with respect," she said

Misconceptions of mental illness

THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Mental illness is a sickness that millions of people in the world struggle with on an endless basis, but it is also one of the most misunderstood illnesses. People who experience a form of mental illness will feel senses of discomfort and uneasiness. But once the illness becomes prolonged for a number of years, it begins to take physical effects on the human body - and the illness is no longer just in the person's head.

According to Mary Young, Southern Ute Behavioral Health Director, prolonged mental illnesses may result with even greater risks including stomach and chest pains, muscle pains, head jolts (aka brain zaps), constipation, lack of appetite, over-eating, sleep deprivation - some of the various physical symptoms.

"All of these play a severity in the person's physical condition if they don't seek help," she stated. "If a person has asthma and/ or high blood pressure, then their mental illness can exacerbate those risks. Generally, people who suffer alcohol, and that will cause potential risks for the body. And of course, the biggest risk is suicide."

The epidemic of documented suicides on American Indian reservations continues to surge. It has become the second most common cause of death for indigenous youth from ages 15 to 24 – two and half times the national rate for that age group. Many reservations including Canadian lands have declared suicide as a state of emergency. In a recent study done by The Guardian, the remote northern Ontario community of approximately 2,000 people has seen more than 100 suicide attempts in the past seven months.

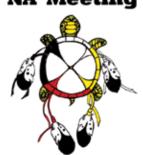

"Another misconception about mental illness is coming in for help and thinking you need to have a diagnosis before seeing someone," Young added. "Here at the Southern Ute Health Center, you can come it at any stage and we will listen. When a person seeks help, it doesn't mean they're weak. It's a sign of strength because you are looking out for yourself.

Damon Toledo from a mental illness will Jennifer Goodtracks is a try to treat it with drugs or tribal member who works really well with the community. She is always here for those who want to speak about their illnesses."

According to Medscape, stress-induced gastritis (stress ulcers) is a serious risk that can be induced by prolonged mental illness. Stress ulcers can cause mucosal erosions and superficial hemorrhages in patients who are under extreme psychological stress, resulting in minimal-to-severe gastrointestinal (GI) blood loss and leading to blood transfusion if not addressed. People with stress ulcers have a higher mortality than compared to patients who do not have stress ulceration and bleeding.

"Mental health is such a major priority for every human being," Young added. "We go to the dentist to prevent tooth decay, or regular doctor check ups to stay up to date - we need to take the same actions when it comes to mental health. It's about preventing it before someone really starts to suffer. I think everyone with a mental illness can benefit by having someone to listen to them."

TRIBAL AGRICULTURE

The importance of controlling noxious weeds

To reduce the negative effects of invasive weeds, the S.U.I.T. Agriculture Division offers a weed control service to tribal members who man- irrigation water, livestock age agricultural lands. This is a low cost service and provides herbicide applications on Tribal agricultural croplands. Sign up now to have weed management completed on your Tribal agricultural land. To talk with us more about this program, please call us at 563-0220 or stop by the Agriculture Division's office.

Controlling noxious weeds is one of the biggest problems we face in the management of natural resources, not only here, but all over the country. Dozens of plant species found in this area are classified as noxious weeds. Most of which are non-native plants brought here from around the world, and without the natural controls found in their native environments they grow fast and unchecked. This allows for their rapid spread, and leads to larger problems over time.

Infestations of noxious weeds can displace native plant species, negatively impact soil health, threaten wildlife habitat, lowers the yields and quality of agricultural crops, creates monoculture stands of unusable plants, and takes AGRICULTURE FIELD TECHNICIAN ents resources away from more desirable plants. All of these situations can lead to serious damage, making the controlling of noxious weeds very important.

Proper management of grazing, and attention to soil health are good preventive measures, that allows desirable plant species to out compete invading weeds. When stands of weeds do become established however, control or eradicating becomes a larger task. In most cases a multi-step integrated pest management plan will lead to the best long term success. Changes in land management practices, replanting desirable plants that will crowd out weed species, along with other practices are vital. Do to aggressive hardiness of these weeds and usually the large size of the infested area, it is most feasible 970-563-0220 and/or stop to begin this process by by our office.

By Robert Dobbins limited water and nutri- applying chemical herbicides. When applied properly herbicides are highly affective, require less labor and cost less than other options. However, there are quite a few factors that must be considered before going out in the field and doing the work. Good planning is needed in order to get the best results and insure label directions are followed. Early treatment and correct timing are big factors on how affective your application will be.

So in order to successfully control weeds, not only now, but for years to come, it takes a combination of management activities that eliminates the already growing weeds and changes the growing conditions to prevent their regrowth. If you have questions about controlling noxious weeds or about the cost share program, please call us at thoroughbreds building up speed in races leading up to the Kentucky Derby, Bobcat Baseball built it up for a highly anticipated postseason by leaving 2A/1A San Juan Basin League arch-nemesis Dolores in the dust.

Traveling to Gonzales Field at Joe Rowell Park Thursday, May 5 (rescheduled from Saturday, April 30), Ignacio wasted no time grabbing the circuit crown. Scoring three runs in the top of the doubleheader's in the second, IHS battered the Bears for another nine in the third before Bert Miller began emptying his bench and getting not only his reserves some playing time but also some of his JV/V swing players.

Ignacio then tacked on two more runs in the fourth for good measure, and locked up a lopsided 18-1 victory an inning later when DHS' 8-9-1 spots went down in order and Dolores having managed just an RBI-single by junior Brandon Ward, scoring the bottom of the second.

Senior Anthony Manalso hit by a pitch and scored four runs to pace the 'Cats, while classmate Tucker Ward – who started on the mound against DHS sophomore Justin Purkat – went 3-3 with a double, a walk and also scored four times.

And it would never be the Bears actually managed to show a tooth or two and scraped together a goahead two runs in the bottom of the first off Ignacio junior Zach Weinreich, after Manzanares led off the game wearing senior Josh McCoy's pitch and later scoring on senior Austin McCaw's two-out double.

With one away in their first collective at-bat of Game 2, Purkat and sophomore Tel Hamilton each Pardo was 2-4 with a walk, singled, and after Weinreich got opposing number McCoy to bounce back to freshman Dakota Smith, in the mound for the second out, Smith singled and Ward doubled to give Dozanares went 4-for-4, was lores a 2-1 lead and their son, and now in six of their supporters a faintly-flickering hope.

But Weinreich cut short that counterstrike by fanning sophomore designated hitter Eric Eastman, and the Bobcats then extinguished that fire by cobbling together three runs in the top of JV on Day 2 of the IHS Invithey were indeed facing the third for a 7-2 advanthreatened; DHS managed only three hits between the second and seventh innings in ultimately losing 12-2.

Senior Chance Hine reached base all four of his plate appearances and scored an IHS-high three runs, while junior Timmy Plehinger, Manzanares and sophomore Nate Atencio each scored twice. Weinreich went 0-2 with two walks and a run, sophomore Kruz double and run, and Ward 2-5 with a double and a run.

Having put up at least a dozen runs in each of their most recent four outings (all wins) to end the regular sealast seven, Ignacio will enter the 2A-District 2 Tournament standing a stout 13-4 overall and a SJBL-best 8-1.

The Bears, meanwhile, bottomed out at 0-16 overall - one unreported loss dealt them by the potent Ignacio

Slow in coming, but most welcome news upon arrival, the All-San Juan Basin League Boys' and Girls' basketball teams definitely had a reddish hue to them with Ignacio prominently represented. And no more so than at the top of each listing, with Coach-of-the-Year distinction bestowed upon Bobcat boys' boss Chris Valdez (whose squad went 22-4 and unbeaten in SJBL play) and girls' chief executive Shane Seibel (whose squad finished 17-5 overall with only one SJBL loss).

To the surprise of none, the Boys' Player-of-the-Year Award as well as First Team All-League honor went to Bobcat senior guard Wyatt Hayes. Joining him on the First Team were Mancos senior center/ forward Ro Paschal, Ouray junior guard/forward Ravi Inmon (tied in the voting with Ridgway senior guard Hasten Beamer), Dove Creek senior guard Jordan Ernst and IHS senior guard/forward Tucker Ward. Bobcat senior center Nick Herrera received Second

COLOR RUN THANKS

During the past few months the SUPD Chief Coriz and I had been meeting regarding a joint activity for April, which was Child Abuse Awareness Month. Once we talked about having a color run for the children, I imagined maybe about 100 children participating. I had never coordinated a color run in the past, so I called upon Robin Duffy-Wirth, SunUte and Precious Collins, Tribal Services, to help with the event. Once they came on board, the Ignacio Police Department, Ignacio School District, Southern Ute Drum and Shinning Mountain Wellness Program were added to the list of event coordinators. This event exploded with excitement because the community believes in protecting our children from harm and wanted to honor the children to show the care we call have for them. Other programs within the Southern Ute Tribe and community wanted to participate and be a part of the biggest event to ever to be held specifically for the children.

It is with great appreciation for the children in the Ignacio School District allowing us time to "Color Your World with Love" and all those who volunteered that I extend a very BIG THANK YOU for the success of this event, that most cannot wait until next year. A special Thank You goes to Robin and Precious for their hard work and time to making this the event of the Children need to know that the whole community in which they live care about them and will protect them when they need for any person. The Ignacio Community has come together to show all the children they are here and available in a big way. Thank you Ignacio Community for proving our children are our future.
